JON DRIVER

THREE GHOST-TALES ~ of ~ CHRISTMAS

MAPS INCLUDED!

GUILD

Three Ghost-Tales of Christmas

"The mention of Marley's funeral brings me back to the point I started from. There is no doubt that Marley was dead. This must be distinctly understood, or nothing wonderful can come of the story I am going to relate."

Introduction....1
Stave 1: The Three Ghosts....2
The Present....2
The Past....2
The Present (Again)....3
The Future....3
Stave 2: The Cult of Krampus....4
Outside the Church....4
Inside the Church....4
The Monkey's Paw....5
Krampus....6
Stave 3: Ghosthunters....6
The Vacuu-Pack....6
The First Ghost....7
The Second Ghost....7
The Third Ghost....8
Acererak in the Attic....8
Appendix....9
Statblocks and magic items....9
Maps....11

Introduction

Ahead of you are three cosy Christmas one-shots, which can be whipped out for some low-prep festive DnD fun.

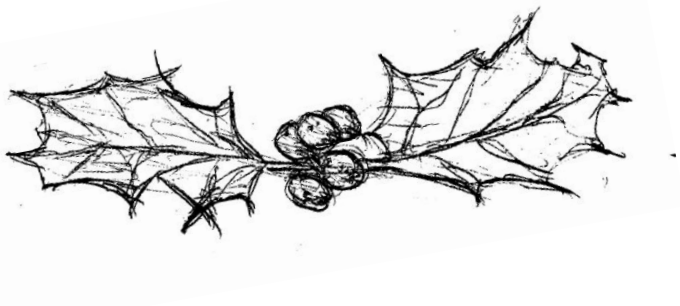

For even less prep, you can auto-create characters on fastcharacter.com.

The Three Ghosts is a light-hearted, roleplay-focused adventure for level 3 characters.

Krampus is a horror-themed, combat-focused adventure for level 5 characters.

Ghosthunters is a goofy, puzzled-focused adventure for level 1 characters.

Enjoy, and happy Christmas!

Stave 1 – The Three Ghosts

In which the players find themselves snowed in with the Ghost of Christmas Present, help him out by travelling to the past and then the future, and ultimately fight a giant pudding.

The Present

Seeking shelter from a winter storm, the players enter a solitary house on the roadside. They entrance hall is dark and cluttered (room 1). A warm light glows through the cracks around the door further in, and there is a faint sound of someone humming a Christmas tune. It sounds strangely panicked.

Through the door is a dining room, the table mounted high with festive food. The Ghost of Christmas Present searches frantically about the place, humming to himself. He is 10ft. tall, with a loose green robe and a holly wreath upon his head.

He greets the players warmly, but quickly returns to fretting, and explains the situation.

> "Come in!" exclaimed the Ghost. "Come in! and know me better, man!"

This ghost holds Christmas celebrations here every year, but there's a problem – the Christmas pudding is missing. This is an oft-repeated prank by the Ghost of Christmas Past. She tampers with the baking of the pudding the past, causing it to go missing in the present. He implores the players to go back in time to stop her and retrieve the pudding, promising festive treats in return.

> *To help with their trip, he offers a choice of three boons:
>
> - The Satsuma of Invisibility
> - The Portable Paper Crown
> - The Immovable Candy Cane
>
> These are equivalent to a potion of invisibility, a portable hole, and an immovable rod, all listed in the DM's Guide.

The Ghost takes them to the entrance hall, and explains that they must bring the pudding, whole, back to this spot in the past.

He warns them that they must not be spotted. If they are, continuity will be broken, and they'll be forced back to the present.

(In truth, things are not so simple, as you will see in the next section).

The Past

The Ghost sends the players back in time. They find themselves in the same entrance hall as before (room 1), but the furniture is much less dusty. Through the doorway, they can hear muffled laughter and conversation.

By the window (room 2), a dwarf, an elf, and a human are playing a game of charades. Their kids run around in knitted jumpers. The dwarf is standing, doing a poor job of portraying an owlbear.

A large barrel of wine props open the door to the kitchen (room 3). The players catch the rich smell of pudding wafting from that direction.

Sneaking through the dining room isn't too hard, since the guests are all distracted by their game.

As the players enter the kitchen, they observe the Ghost of Christmas Present – a small girl in a white dress and cap, pointed like a candle extinguisher. The Ghost is reaching into the oven, preparing to remove the pudding with a mischievous grin.

If the players try to stop her, and take the pudding for themselves, the Ghost will do her best to foil them. If you need a statblock, use the Ghost statblock in the Monster Manual (p.147), although the Ghost has no violent intent. If the Ghost does decide to attack, she does so using a nearby fire poker (see 'Ghostly Actions').

Objects of note in the kitchen:

- A pot of mulled wine is simmering on the hob. Drinking it grants +2 to CHA checks for the next hour, but requires a CON saving throw DC11, or causes -2 to DEX checks for the same time
- Two gingerbread men sit on the counter, which act as minor healing potions
- A window leads outside into the snow
- If a guest comes to investigate, the players can hide behind the Christmas tree, or in the cupboards (a tight squeeze for a medium or larger creature)

The Ghost will try to disrupt the players, and may try drawing the attention of the guests. Roll on the table below, or choose whichever you find the most fun, to decide what she does. You may find it easiest to run this section in initiative.

| D6 | Ghostly Actions |
|---|---|
| 1 | Knock a nearby vase or pan onto the floor, making a loud noise |
| 2 | Grab a squeaky toy from under the tree and squeeze hard, drawing the attention of one of the children |
| 3 | Attempt to grab the pudding |
| 4 | Grab a fire poker and attack a player. +3 to hit, 1d4+1 damage, the player must make a DC11 STR saving throw or drop the pudding. |
| 5 | Touch a player. They must make a DC13 CHA saving throw, or age 20 years. |
| 6 | The Ghost attempts to use Possession (see the statblock in the Monster Manual, p. 147). |

If the players are spotted by an adult, they instantly become a ghost. They can float around, move through objects, and are undetectable to any mortals. If all the players become ghosts, they are forced back to the present. The same happens if the pudding is destroyed.

If they are spotted by a child, they do not turn into a ghost, although children are likely to alert their parents unless placated.

If the players return the pudding to the entrance hall, they return to the present.

The Present (Again)

Back in the present, the Ghost of Christmas Present remains distraught.

If the players succeeded in retrieving the pudding, the Ghost declares that it's the wrong one – he, of course, has multiple. That means one is still missing, and since it can't be found, it could be lying under a table or floorboard somewhere, and could affect the future. They must travel forwards in time to make sure nothing has gone wrong.

If the players failed, then there is of course still no sign of the pudding, and the same applies.

The Ghost grants them a second choice of boon from the list before, then sends them on their way.

The Future

The furniture in the living room is now moth-eaten. However, the room is lit by an electric light, which strikes the players as some unknown form of magic. This is the future, after all.

In the dining room, three Mind Flayers (Monster Manual p.222) sit around the table, eating brains with gravy and discussing the festive season in formal language.

'This tender grey matter is a satisfying complement to the festive atmosphere, would you not agree, Flaarv?"

"Indeed. And soon the festivities will multiply further when we consume that pudding we found beneath the comfortable resting apparatus."

Besides them, apparently only visible to the players, stands the Ghost of Christmas Yet to Come. He is shrouded in a deep black cloak, and watches on broodingly. Or perhaps he's just bored.

The kitchen door is shut, and still emanates the smell of pudding.

If the door is opened, or if the mind flayers spot the players, a giant Christmas pudding bursts out and scatters them. Generations of mould have apparently mutated it into a monster!

See Appendix for stats.

Once defeated, the players are transported back to the present. Gratefully, the Ghost treats them to a share of the Christmas feast, including a generous slice of the pudding.

Stave 2 – the Cult of Krampus

In which the players face the bloody aftermath of a foul festive ritual, coming face-to-face with a Christmas demon.

This adventure has a darker tone. For a proper horror theme, you could include more graphic detail.

Outside the Church

On the outskirts of a dwarven village stands an abandoned church and cleric's house. In recent times the locals have spied goblins in the area, and heard strange voices on the wind. Whispers of a demon.

Unbeknownst to anyone, the goblins performed an occult ritual to summon the Christmas demon Krampus. It wreaked havoc, attacking the goblins and snatching the town's sheriff, before disappearing back to its dimension to plot its next move.

The reason for the players' investigation can vary. Maybe they seek reward, or the glory of slaying Krampus, or hope to rescue the sheriff who disappeared while investigating before them. Either way, they find themselves trudging through the snow on a moonlit night, towards the lonely church spire.

Outside the door (number 1), three Winter Wolves (Monster Manual p.340) sink their fangs into the frozen bodies of goblins who attempted to flee the church. As they bite, licks of blue flame shoot up from the bodies, though the wolves seem unperturbed.

The wolves are deliberately avoiding a patch of snow which shows the print of a hoof, leading inside. The hoof is supernaturally large.

The wolves are initially oblivious to the players, but will attack on sight. Once dealt with, the players can investigate the goblin bodies.

One cold corpse is holding a handwritten note, barely legible:

'need a flame – NO HOT'

Inside the Church

Inside, 10 goblins stand around the pews of the old church, ice crusting their skin, frozen in poses of terror. At the head of the church is an altar (number 2), behind which are stairs leading up (number 3).

If any creature passes into the line of sight of a frozen goblin (20ft. cone), it groans into life, and attacks with the tenacity of an undead (see Appendix for stats). They can wake one another. If any are killed, they release a mote of blue flame, which floats towards the nearest flammable object and sets it alight. The flame destroys objects but causes no harm, and feels cold to the touch.

Upstairs, beneath the church bell, is the site of the ritual to summon Krampus. A ring of blood is drawn on the floor, surrounded by unlit candles. If a blue flame makes its way upstairs, it will light the candles, and transport the players to Krampus' realm.

Items in the church:

- On a pew besides the two adjacent goblins are two flasks of Alchemists' Fire
- A goblin besides the altar clutches notes on Krampus, describing it and mentioning its propensity for cold magic and weakness to fire

Attacking a frozen goblin shatters the ice and brings it to life. The ice provides a 20HP buffer. This acts as a set of temporary hitpoints which are reduced to zero once the goblin awakens.

The Monkey's Paw

Upon the altar stands an upright withered hand, severed just below the wrist. Beside it is a stocking.

If a player approaches, the fingers of the hand wiggle, and it communicates telepathically.

'If you seek guidance, place your hand into my stocking.'

The Monkey's Paw has sentience, and is drawn to the sites of foul rituals. It finds the situation amusing, and will tease the players with information about Krampus, a Christmas demon that has terrorised winter festivities since his creation by a long-forgotten demon lord.

If the players reach into the stocking, they can pull out parchment notes containing clues and advice.

Example clues:

- "Above, the ritual awaits"
- "The flame will find its path"
- "Death releases flame"
- "Flame will open the gate"
- "The demon fears fire"

The players may ask the paw their own questions, which it will attempt to answer, again through notes in the stocking. It possesses great knowledge of arcane lore, including information about Krampus. It can also perform an Augury spell, producing the answer via the stocking.

If a note is pulled, one finger of the paw folds down, and the players are cursed. Roll on the table below.

If the players kill all the goblins without lighting the candles, one of two things happens:

- The Church is sufficiently damaged by flame that the roof collapses. The ritual candles are lit as the building burns, but not before each player must make a DC15 DEX save, taking 5d6 bludgeoning damage or half on a successful save
- The Monkey's Paw laughs at their failure, and explains that to generate a new flame, one of them must sacrifice their life force. If a player is downed, it will release the blue flame required. The player need not be killed, only reduced to 0 hit points.

D100 Monkey's Paw Effects

| | |
|---|---|
| 1-10 | Randomly choose one of your highest-level spells with a die roll. Replace it with an equivalent level spell by rolling on your class spell list. |
| 11-20 | Roll a hit die. Your hit point maximum is permanently reduced by that amount. This lasts until removed by a greater restoration spell or other magic, or until a week has passed. |
| 21-30 | You gain vulnerability to cold damage for the next 24 hours. |
| 31-40 | Half of the remaining frozen goblins awaken. |
| 41-50 | Make a DC15 WIS saving throw. On a fail, use your strongest melee attack against an adjacent ally. |
| 51-60 | You take 1d6 cold damage. Every 30 minutes, take another 1d6 cold damage, until 24 hours have passed. |
| 61-70 | Randomly choose one of your held items with a die roll. That item appears in the hands of the closest frozen goblin, who then awakens. |
| 71-80 | All goblins will prioritise attacking you over anything else for the next 24 hours. |
| 81-90 | Another finger of the paw folds down, making this clue count for two. |
| 91-00 | Roll on the wild magic table. |

Krampus

If the players stand within the circle of lit candles, the world around them folds away, and they find themselves in a dark snowstorm. Silhouetted trees form a perimeter. The church lies in stony ruins around their feet, and the cleric's house stands besides, coated in frost.

On its roof, the players see a hulking silhouette. Beneath its cloak protrude heavy hoofs, and two curling horns rise above its head.

Krampus leaps from the roof, and attacks. Optionally, he leaves the body of the town sheriff on the roof, unconscious but still alive.

See Appendix for stats and battle map.

Having defeated Krampus, the players are welcomed back to the town, and can enjoy a traditional dwarven festive celebration, complete with copious alcohol and merriment.

Stave 3 – Ghosthunters

In which the players explore a haunted house, find a suction contraption, and get pelted with satsuma peel.

This is a puzzle-themed adventure. It might work best to make that clear to the players up front, so that they are less tempted to brute force solutions.

The Vacuu-Pack

At the end of the road stands a gothic manor, reputedly haunted. As ghosthunters, the players have been hired to investigate (or are just really enthusiastic).

In the entrance hall (room 1) they find a goggled gnome, unconscious, holding a strange contraption.

See Appendix for vacuu-pack stats.

It looks like the nozzle of a vacuum cleaner attached by a rubber tube to a bulky metal backpack. The goblin holds a note which reads:

> 'Vacuu-pack, Patent no. 325b. Note: NEEDS MORE POWER'

There is also a dial on the side, which reads:

> 'Ghosts sucked: 0. Power level: 0.'

The gnome's name is Cornelius Boggle, an aspiring ghosthunter who developed the vacuu-pack specifically to suck in ghosts. However, he found it too weak to deal with the ghosts in the house, not helped by his nervous disposition (hence his unconsciousness).

At a dramatically-appropriate moment, the ghost of Acererak pokes his head down through the ceiling, demanding the players leave or face his ghoulish wrath. He taunts that the strange device might work on a lesser ghost, but it was no match for the mighty Acererak!

Whether this is actually the ghost of Acererak or not is up to you, but he certainly seems to believe it.

The First Ghost (Room 2)

After Acererak disappears upstairs, the players are free to tackle the ghosts in any order. Each ghost will grant a boon to the vacuu-pack, if they can suck it in.

If you need a statblock for any of the ghosts, use Acererak's statblock (see Appendix), but remove the Ectoplasm and Possession actions, and reduce the Withering Touch damage to 1d6+3. You can replace the Ectoplasm attack with a simple ranged attack where the ghost throws nearby objects – reduce the damage to 1d4+3, and remove the restraining effect.

Room 2 is dark. Furniture has been shoved to the sides to make room for a grid of Christmas trees, and the ghost of a girl floats in the corner, carefully positioning the final tree into alignment.

She spots the players, and yelps in fright, before diving into the nearest tree. As she disappears, the candles of the tree flare into life for a second, and then die out. The room is left in darkness.

This puzzle should be run in initiative.

Each tree carries a few candles. On the ghost's turn, she leaps out of her tree and into another, causing its candles to flare. Then all of the candles in the room die.

She will try to move away from the players. If the candles on the tree she hides in are lit, she is forced out, and jumps to an adjacent tree. If there are no available adjacent trees, such as if all are already lit, she attempts to leap into one and fails, leaving her stunned. The vacuu-pack begins to vibrate, and she can easily be sucked in.

Once sucked up, the dial on the vacuu-pack ticks up, and it gains +20ft. range.

The Second Ghost (Room 3)

In the kitchen (room 3) is a grumpy ghost with a chef's hat. It seems to be deluded, and believes the players are its lazy sous-chefs. It is attempting to make eggnog, but has forgotten the recipe. It easily dodges the vacuu-pack, and responds with irritation, demanding they focus on making the eggnog (its favourite festive drink).

Laid out on the table are ten ingredients:

- Eggs
- Milk
- Honey
- Sugar
- Wine
- Brandy
- Orange
- Chocolate
- Cream
- Custard

The ghost challenges the players to use these to make eggnog.

To make eggnog, you need eggs, milk, cream, sugar, and brandy.

Once they have attempted to make the eggnog, the ghost will taste it.

If the players got the right ingredients, it falls quickly into a satisfied drunken nap, and the vacuu-pack vibrates, ready to easily suck him in.

If the players got it wrong, the ghost is infuriated, and attacks. It needs to be brought to 0hp before it can be knocked unconscious and sucked in by the vacuu-pack.

When sucked, the dial on the vacuu-pack ticks up, and it becomes able to launch ectoplasm.

> Ectoplasm:
>
> Ranged. +5 to hit, reach 20/40ft., one target.
> Hit: 2d4+3 damage.
> The target must make a DC13 STR saving throw or be restrained. The save can be re-attempted at the start of the target's turn.

The Third Ghost (Room 4)

The third ghost (room 4) has an enormous belly, and is napping face-up, snoring loudly. It is surrounded by satsuma peels and chocolate wrappers. Between the door and the ghost is a messy mound of toys that form a winding path. Wreaths of holly and ivy line the walls.

The toys on the ground get denser as you approach the ghost. When walking through, avoiding stepping on any requires three consecutive Stealth checks: DC10, DC13, and DC15. On a failure, the player steps on a toy, causing a cascade of noise and awakening the ghost.

A player can attempt to climb along the plants on the walls. This requires a DC11 Acrobatics check. On a failure, the player falls onto the noisy toys.

If the player wants to avoid touching any holly, the DC becomes DC15. If the player takes the lower DC, they must make a further DC13 CON saving throw to hold on despite the prickly leaves. They deal 1d4 piercing damage.

A medium or larger creature will have a hard time climbing the plants. If they try, there is a 50% chance that the plants give under their weight, dropping them down onto the toys.

If the ghost is awoken, it's initiative, and the ghost begins to pelt satsumas and baubles at the players. It can throw two a turn:

> Bauble/Satsuma throw:
>
> Ranged. +5 to hit, reach 30/60ft., one target.
> Hit: (1d4+3) bludgeoning damage.

Having gorged itself on Christmas food, the ghost is unable to move. The ghost is so heavy that the vacuu-pack can only suck it in if it's within 5ft. If the ghost is conscious, it can resist by making a DC10 STR saving throw.

Acererak in the Attic

When the players make it to the attic (room 5), they find Acererak wearing a garish Christmas jumper. He laughs at the players.

> 'Now you will see the TRUE meaning of a Christmas SPIRIT!'

Acererak moves to attack!

See Appendix for statblock.

Once defeated, the house is no longer haunted, and the townsfolk can use it as the perfect site for a wild Christmas party – to which the players are invited.

Giant Christmas Pudding

Large monstrosity, neutral tasty

AC 13
HP 60
Speed 30 ft.

| STR | DEX | CON | INT | WIS | CHA |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 20 (+5) | 12 (+1) | 17 (+3) | 3 (-4) | 12 (+1) | 7 (-2) |

Skills Athletics +7
Damage Vulnerabilities fire
Senses passive Perception 11
Languages --
Challenge 3 (700 XP)

Flammable. If hit by fire damage, ignites into flame, dealing 1d6 fire damage per round to adjacent creatures.

Actions

Multiattack. Makes two attacks: any combination of claw attacks and pudding throw attacks.
Claws. Melee. +7 to hit, reach 5ft., one target. Hit: (2d8+5) slashing damage. The target is grappled (escape DC 17). Until the grapple ends, the target is restrained, and can only make one claw attack per turn (with it's free hand).
Pudding Throw. Ranged. +7 to hit, reach 30/80ft., one target. Hit: (1d10+5) bludgeoning damage.
Swallow. Make one claw attack against a medium or smaller target it is grappling. If the attack hits, the target is swallowed and the grapple ends. The swallowed creatures is blinded and restrained, has total cover against attacks and other effects outside, and takes 5 (2d4) acid damage at the start of the Pudding's turn. Only one target can be swallowed at a time. If the pudding dies, the target is no longer restrained, and is left prone.

Krampus

Large fiend, chaotic evil

AC 15
HP 70
Speed 40 ft.

| STR | DEX | CON | INT | WIS | CHA |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 18 (+4) | 15 (+2) | 16 (+3) | 7 (-2) | 14 (+2) | 9 (-1) |

Saving Throws Dex +5, Con +6
Skills Perception +5, Stealth +5
Damage Immunities cold
Damage Vulnerabilities fire
Senses darkvision 120ft., passive Perception 13
Languages Common, Abyssal
Challenge 5 (1,800 XP)

Innate Spellcasting. Spellcasting ability is Wisdom (spell save DC 13). Can innately cast the following spells, requiring no material components:
1/day each: Ice Storm, Snilloc's Snowball Storm.
2/day each: Sleet Storm, Ice Knife.
Legendary Resistance (1/Day). On a failed saving throw, choose to succeed instead.
Leap. Can long jump 40ft and high jump 20ft.

Actions

Multiattack. Can make three attacks: one with its hooves and two with its horns.
Hooves: Melee. +7 to hit, reach 5ft., one target. Hit: (1d6+4) bludgeoning damage, (1d6) cold damage.
Horns: Melee. +7 to hit, reach 5ft., one target. Hit: (1d8+4) piercing damage, (1d4) cold damage. On a hit, the target must make a DC13 CON save. On a fail, Krampus drains the target's blood, regaining HP equal to the damage dealt.

Reactions

Snow burst. If adjacent to 3 or more hostile creatures, kick up a burst of snow and leap 40ft. All adjacent creatures take 3d6 cold damage, and must make a DC13 STR save or be knocked prone.

Goblin (frosty)

Small humanoid (goblinoid), neutral evil

AC 15
HP 7
Speed 30 ft.

| STR | DEX | CON | INT | WIS | CHA |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 8 (-1) | 14 (+2) | 10 (+0) | 10 (+0) | 8 (-1) | 8 (-1) |

Skills Stealth +6
Senses darkvision 60ft., passive Perception 9
Languages Common, Goblin
Challenge 1/2 (100 XP)

Nimble Escape. Can Disengage or Hide as a bonus action.

ACTIONS

Scimitar. Melee. +4 to hit, reach 5ft., one target. Hit: (1d6+2) slashing damage, (1d4) cold damage.
Shortbow. Ranged.+4 to hit, reach 80/320ft., one target. Hit: (1d6+2) piercing damage, (1d4) cold damage.
Freeze. If one or more frost goblins are also adjacent to an enemy, both frost goblins expend their actions for this round to channel freezing energy towards that enemy. The target must make a CON saving throw DC13, or take 2d6 cold damage and be restrained.

Ghosthunter's Vacuu-Pack

Wondrous item, very rare

A hefty backpack with a strange tube and nozzle. Can be activated with an action to generate a 5ft. wide, 20ft. long beam of suction. Any medium or smaller creatures must succeed on a DC14 STR saving throw or be pulled 10ft. towards the pack. Any undead in the beam take 4d6 force damage. If any ghosts are nearby and vulnerable, the vacuu-pack begins to vibrate violently.

Acererak (ghost)

Medium undead, chaotic neutral

AC 11
HP 45
Speed 0 ft., fly 40ft. (hover)

| STR | DEX | CON | INT | WIS | CHA |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 7 (-2) | 13 (+1) | 10 (+0) | 10 (+0) | 12 (+1) | 17 (+3) |

Damage Resistances bludgeoning, piercing, and slashing from nonmagical attacks
Damage Immunities cold, necrotic, poison
Condition Immunities frightened, grappled, prone, restrained
Skills Athletics +7
Senses passive Perception 11
Languages Common, Abyssal
Challenge 1 (200 XP)

Ethereal Sight. Can see 60ft into the Ethereal Plane when it is on the Material Plane, and vice versa.
Incorporeal Movement. Can move through other creatures and objects as if they were difficult terrain. It takes (1d10) force damage if it ends its turn inside an object.

ACTIONS

Withering Touch. Melee. +5 to hit, reach 5ft., one target. Hit: (2d6+3) necrotic damage.
Ectoplasm. Ranged. +5 to hit, reach 20/40ft., one target. Hit: (2d4+3) acid damage. The target must make a DC11 STR saving throw, or be restrained. The save can be re-attempted at the start of the target's turn.
Possession (Recharge 6). One visible humanoid within 5 ft. of must succeed on a DC13 Charisma saving throw or be possessed; the ghost then disappears, and the target is incapacitated and loses control of its body. The ghost now controls the body but doesn't deprive the target of awareness. The ghost can't be targeted by any attack, spell, or other effect, except ones that turn undead, and it retains its alignment, Intelligence, Wisdom, Charisma, and immunity to being charmed and frightened. It otherwise uses the possessed target's statistics, but doesn't gain access to the target's knowledge, class features, or proficiencies. The possession lasts until the body drops to 0 hit points, the ghost ends it as a bonus action, the ghost is turned or forced out by an effect like the dispel evil and good spell, or the target succeeds on the saving throw which can be re-attempted at the start of the target's turns. When the possession ends, the ghost reappears in an unoccupied space within 5 ft. of the body. The target is immune to this ghost's Possession for 24 hours after succeeding on the saving throw or after the possession ends.

Appendix: Maps

The Three Ghosts

Appendix: Maps

The Three Ghosts

Krampus: Church

Krampus: Church

Ghosthunters

Ghosthunters

DUNGEONS & DRAGONS, D&D, Wizards of the Coast, Forgotten Realms, Ravenloft, Eberron, the dragon ampersand, Ravnica and all other Wizards of the Coast product names, and their respective logos are trademarks of Wizards of the Coast in the USA and other countries.

This work contains material that is copyright Wizards of the Coast and/or other authors. Such material is used with permission under the Community Content Agreement for Dungeon Masters Guild.

All other original material in this work is copyright 2022 by Jonathan Driver and published under the Community Content Agreement for Dungeon Masters Guild.